ABET
ACCREDITATION RENEWED

The LeTourneau engineering program, with concentrations in electrical and mechanical engineering, has been reaccredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology.

ABET is a national organization which monitors, evaluates and certifies the quality of engineering and engineering related education in the United States. It provides institutions like LeTourneau a means to have their programs formally evaluated against criteria which have been set by the profession.

ABET accreditation assures that the accredited programs meet the minimum criteria for mathematical foundations, basic sciences, engineering design and synthesis, and humanities and social sciences. ABET accreditation is widely respected throughout business and industry.

LETOURNEAU INCLUDED IN
PETERSON GUIDE

LeTourneau is one of 353 American colleges and universities chosen for inclusion in Peterson's Competitive Colleges 1991-92, recently released by the Princeton-based education and career information publisher.

"We're pleased that this is the sixth consecutive year LeTourneau has been included in the guide," said Roger Kieffer, dean of enrollment management.

"It's an objective indicator that while the university's entrance requirements are deliberately established to provide an opportunity for average students to enroll, the quality of the programs is such that they are challenging to students with high academic skills."

Peterson's Competitive Colleges uses objective criteria to identify the 350-plus institutions that consistently attract and accept the brightest students, Kieffer said.

Every Gift Is Significant

PROFESSOR TEACHES IN POLAND

Dr. Phil Hook, professor of biblical studies, spent two weeks in Worclaw, Poland, teaching courses in the doctrine of the church and prophecy at the Baptist seminary which is a part of the First Baptist Church in Worclaw. There are 15 Polish and three Ukrainian students enrolled in the seminary. This is Dr. Hook's 18th visit to Poland since 1976.

WELDING SEMINAR DEMONSTRATES CURRENT TECHNOLOGY

A Pulsed-Gas Metal Arc welding seminar drew more than 80 participants to the campus in October. Leo E. Wildenthaler, national account manager for Hobart was the instructor. The seminar demonstrated joining applications using ferrous and nonferrous metals in live equipment demonstrations.

ANNUAL LeTOURNEAU DINNER HELD IN LANCASTER, PENNSYLVANIA

Ninety-nine people gathered at the Willow Valley Conference Center in Lancaster, PA on October 14, 1991 for the annual LeTourneau University dinner. The program included a university progress report by Dr. Austin, special music by John Martin, director of development, and the showing of a new recruitment video. Banquet guests included a number of prospective students and their

Jim Stjernstrom
Vice President for University Advancement

This issue of NOW, the President's Annual Report, focuses attention on the sources of financial support received by LeTourneau during the past fiscal year. There are several things I would like you to remember as you read it.

1) I cannot over emphasize how grateful we are for your prayer and financial support.

The friends of LeTourneau are a diverse group scattered everywhere from Longview, Texas throughout the world. Many have been directly involved in the life of the university as students, parents, alumni, trustees, and friends. But there are others who have faithfully provided support who have not attended LeTourneau, have never had a son or daughter attend the university and who have never visited the campus. They pray for us and give to us simply because they believe in the mission of LeTourneau.

When I look at the list of names in this President's Report I thank the Lord for each person, for their prayers on our behalf and for every gift. Once again let me say, "Thanks for your support!"

2) Every gift is significant. I've heard it said that fund raisers can no longer afford to pay attention to gifts under $100.00.

My response is that there's no such thing as a small, inconsequential gift. At LeTourneau, every gift is needed, every gift is significant, and we are grateful for every gift!"

This is especially true during the difficult economic times we are experiencing.

The prayer requests received during the alumni phonothon emphasized to me that many of the people who care about LeTourneau are experiencing difficult struggles in their own lives.

That's why in this report we recognize every person who has given a gift of $1 or more. (If we missed your name or made some other mistake, please inform us so we can make a correction.) To be strong and to grow, LeTourneau requires a broad base of support from many friends, a few giving large gifts and many more giving smaller ones. That's why every gift has its own unique place in the overall picture and is vitally important in meeting the critical needs of the university.

3) At LeTourneau we have just one mission; to provide a high quality, Christ-centered, life shaping education for Christian young people and adults. We prepare people to serve the Lord through their chosen professions. When we appeal to you for financial support we always focus on our mission.

While there may be occasions when we send you a book or a tape to show our appreciation for your gift, we will never allow a premium to become the primary motive for your giving to LeTourneau.

Our mission is what's important. That's where we will always place the emphasis. It's our mission that is truly worthy of your support. So, from all of us at LeTourneau University, thank you for your support. We value your gifts. They are significant no matter how large or small. You can be confident that your prayers and gifts support an educational ministry that shapes the lives of thousands of people and is of eternal significance.

4) Whenever you have a question, a comment, a suggestion about LeTourneau University please write or give us a call. We are frequently contacted and we would like to hear from you. In your own community, encourage young people you know in your neighborhood and church to consider attending LeTourneau. A suggestion from you could very well be the Lord's way of directing their lives.

If you are ever near Longview, please take time to visit the campus. Be sure to stop by the advancement office. The appearance of the campus is changing from month to month and we would like to give you a tour and show you the progress we're making. We want to be of service to you in any way we can. We want you to share with us the joy of seeing what the Lord is accomplishing in the lives of everyone He leads to LeTourneau.

Blue Bird Bus Added To Fleet

It was a cold, wet November day when University trustees boarded the bus which took them to visit the site of Longview Hall. The 32 passenger Blue Bird bus was a gift from the Luce family, founders of the Blue Bird Body Company. Paul Gliske, chairman of the Board of Trustees, is the president of the company.

Construction of Longview Hall on Schedule

As each step of the construction process is completed, Longview Hall becomes a more impressive structure. Outside brickwork is complete and the building is now weather tight. During the winter months workmen will work on the installation of electrical and mechanical systems and interior finishing. The building will be ready for occupancy by the fall semester 1992.

Grant Will Expand Library Services

A $323,109 grant from the United States Department of Education will enable members of the Forest Trail Library Consortium, Inc., of which LeTourneau University is a member, to link member libraries and tie into a national library network.		was identified as an immediate goal. To reach this objective, in 1990 the Consortium applied for a grant from the United States Department of Education to fund the program.
This grant comes as a result of discussions between the director of the LeTourneau University library and directors of three other major East Texas libraries. Early in 1989 this group formed the Forest Trail Library Consortium which now includes 11 members.		In August the Consortium was notified by the United States Department of Education that it was the recipient of a grant totaling $484,749 of which $323,109 is to be provided by the U.S. Department of Education with the remaining $161,640 coming from members of the Consortium.
"The Consortium objectives are to provide information and knowledge, along with the cultural heritage and resources of East Texas to the widest possible audience at the lowest cost," explains Lois Brynner, director of the LeTourneau Learning Resource Center.		The grant was awarded to enable the Consortium to build a common on-line database for resource sharing.
The automation and computerization of the libraries		"The grant will enable LeTourneau and other member libraries to tie into a national library network and to extend the possibility of locally shared catalogs and clientele thereby promoting resource sharing and the cooperative collection of library materials," said Lois Brynner. Information systems available today offer everything from games to the most sophisticated scientific research information.
		The Consortium is a member of the Online Computer Library Center (OCLC), a national network of libraries committed to resource sharing through a common online catalog. The Forest Trails Consortium libraries will collect and match their records and transfer them to the OCLC database.
		The database information is machine-readable which makes it available to anyone whose computer is connected to the system. It opens up literally millions of options for information retrieval. Topics can be researched, libraries can be located where the information is on file and it can be downloaded to the users computer.
		LeTourneau to purchase a Bibliofile computer workstation used throughout the system for record conversion, cataloging, electronic mail and document delivery between libraries.
		The result will be greatly expanded access to library resources by LeTourneau faculty, staff and others who use the library. The sharing of resources also means the cost of providing information will be reduced.
		Automation will result in faster, more accurate and extensive access to information.
		This grant sets the stage for LeTourneau to take advantage of the growing number of information networks. All of this is part of a major 5-year library modernization project aimed at strengthening teaching and learning resources at LeTourneau University.

Focus on Planned Giving

How to Plan for Widowhood

John F. Martin
Director of Development

"There are so many things Fred should have told me, but it all happened so quickly," a grieving widow told me after her husband died.

But is death really unexpected? This couple spent 48 memorable years together, and they planned the whole time. They expected retirement to be pleasant and satisfying. Death was understandably unwanted, so they didn't plan for it. But we must plan for widowhood. Over 80 percent of today's wives will become widows. It is simply a question of "When?" Who can possibly be prepared for this experience? Let's consider the financial adjustments. Couples should review their wills regularly to make sure the personal representative (executor) and guardian still qualify and are willing to serve. Are the provisions still adequate to meet the needs of beneficiaries? Do they conform to recent tax legislation? There are many questions to answer. "Where are the checkbooks, bank statements, cancelled checks, and savings passbooks? Will I have full access to our bank accounts after my husband's death, or should a separate account be established? Where are auto, homeowner's, and life insurance policies? Am I still covered by medical insurance, and are the children covered too? Where are records about our home such as deeds, mortgages, and title insurance? Where are personal records like our marriage and birth certificates and Veterans' Administration papers? "Who are the people who will help me? Who will handle the funeral and what are my husband's wishes concerning those services? What are the names of our attorney, accountant, banker, and insurance agent? Who will be most helpful as a financial confidant? What do I do to sell or retain my husband's business, and who will help me make those decisions?" These can be enormous problems. You should think them through carefully with professional advisers. "How do I collect life insurance proceeds? How do I invest them wisely and conserve them? How do I begin receiving an income and from what sources? Will this income be adequate, or will I need to find employment as soon as possible?" Simply projecting the widow's income and expenses may raise issues you have not yet considered. Too often we men take the view that we do not want to "bother" our wives with financial details. Robert Bosterman in his book The Complete Estate Planning Guide cites this example: "I once knew a widow whose estate, inherited from her husband, included a block of stock worth $200,000 in a blue chip corporation. She knew little about the world of investment, but learned rapidly, or so she thought. "Shortly after her husband died, the company announced a stock split. Seeing in the papers that the stock was now listed at a lower price, she got panicky, thought she was losing money, and sold off her stock, all $200,000 worth. "Next she put the proceeds into a speculative stock. Within two years, the value of the stock dropped from $200,000 to $50,000. Had she kept her investment in the original form, it would have been worth $250,000. "It's easy enough to criticize or ridicule the unfortunate heroine of this little drama, but in doing so, I think we miss the point. "Was it her fault she acted so foolishly? After all, she never handled or owned any sizable amount of property in her life. Her husband had never bothered her with money matters." (adapted by permission from John G. Watts, Westmont College) LeTourneau has prepared a useful booklet, "Memo To My Loved Ones", which can help you answer these questions. I believe it covers all the information you will need if your spouse dies. The booklet also includes work sheets for projecting your budget and your income. Please feel free to request a copy by writing or calling me at LeTourneau. I would enjoy hearing from you. Call or write John F. Martin, Director of Development, LeTourneau University, P. O. Box 7001, Longview, TX 75607, (903) 753-0231, ext. 337.

ALUMNI MEET IN COLORADO

The Rockies were rockin' with laughter the last weekend in September when five LeTourneau grads met at Keystone Resort near Denver to renew old acquaintances and share fond memories.

Conceived and hosted by Larry Ethridge ('58) and wife Connie, of Denver, the gang descended upon unsuspecting Colorado from far and wide: Jim Marble ('57) and wife Joyce, from Robinson, Illinois; John Stevenson ('58) and daughter Terry from Starr, South Carolina; Dick Hamby ('57) and wife Carolyn, from Birmingham, Alabama; and Don Huggins ('58) and wife Judy from Seattle, Washington.

The group exchanged tales of years gone by complete with the embellishments that time inevitably contributes. Reminders of Dorm 12 water fights, hitchhiking trips and pie and coffee at Mom Mannix's Cafe stirred old memories. Each man had his own recollections. On one thing they all agreed. The daily chapels helped them keep life in perspective. "Thanks LeTourneau Technical Institute, for great memories."

We thank Judy Huggins for this special report.

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN CLEAN SWEEP PROGRAM

For two years LeTourneau students have participated in a community program called, Clean Sweep. Volunteers throughout the community spend a Saturday refurbishing homes in needy areas of the community.

On Saturday, October 8, 1991, more than 200 LeTourneau students put in a day of work and refurbished nine homes. Work included carpentry, roofing, painting and general repairs. The efforts of all the community participants is greatly appreciated. For LeTourneau students Clean Sweep is an opportunity to demonstrate the love of Christ to people who need a little help.

COMMENTS BY STUDENT CALLERS

Dean Lewis, Senior mech. engineering major from Grand Rapids, Michigan, and Student Senate President ,”I appreciated that we were encouraged to spend time on the phone to be more personal in making the calls. And asking for prayer requests made it even more meaningful. One call in particular stands out in my mind. An alumnus had recently left his wife at the hospital. I was glad I could include their need among the other prayer requests we received.”

Carmelita Johnson, Senior biology major from Colorado Springs, Colorado. “I enjoyed making the calls. It was a pleasure to talk with alumni and hear the stories about the days when they were at LeTourneau. I also appreciated the gifts they made to the Phonathon.”

Darryl Wright, Senior Aviation Major from Crawfordsville, Indiana,“Many of the alumni talked about the great time they had at LeTourneau and asked about their favorite faculty member. Others were obviously facing struggles in their lives. I was glad we could remember them in the prayer requests.”

Alumni Phonathon Update

Alumni & Friends Respond to Callers

The 1991 Phonathon was held during the week of September 23-27 and it turned out to be one of the best we've ever conducted. The goal was $55,000 for student scholarships. But equally important, also the callers were committed to show a personal interest in every person called. The student were very successful on both counts. About 100 students participated in the five nights of calling. Twenty five telephones were installed on the third floor of the R. G. LeTourneau Memorial and Student Center Building. Each evening began with a brief training session. At 6:00 p.m. the students began making calls to people in the eastern time zone, shifting to the central, mountain and pacific time zones as the evening progressed.

The students completed 2864 calls and received more than $48,000.00 in pledges. Phonathon gifts received in advance by mail raised the total to $52,319.00.

After the Phonathon letters were sent to everyone not contacted to give them an opportunity to participate. We expect the total to exceed the $55,000 goal when the final tally is made.

Increasing the percentage of participation was one of the major Phonathon goals. This year we received 117 first-time contributions. Overall in 1990-91 18 percent of LeTourneau alumni made a contribution to the University.

Raising funds for student scholarships is of critical importance because most LeTourneau students come from homes of modest income and, in addition to working to pay their way, they require some assistance to receive a LeTourneau education.

It costs approximately $1000 per student to make up the difference between tuition and actual cost. This does not include the additional costs which must be raised for capital improvements. So we are especially grateful for all the alumni and friends who responded so generously to the Phonathon.

What made this year's phonathon especially meaningful was the strong emphasis placed on making the calls as personal as possible. Students were encouraged to ask questions and to spend time talking with the alumni and

One hundred students participated in the Phonathon. There was a spirit of expectation throughout the week as calls were made. Funds were raised for scholarships and in the process students had an opportunity to visit with many alumni and friends of the University. Asking for prayer requests and ending each evening of calling with prayer made it a very meaningful event.

Alumni Royce Yoder (ET '64), on the left, and Richard Baney (MT/AT '70) were among several alumni on hand to help make the Phonathon a success. The students appreciated the participation of alumni. Their presence at the Phonathon gave students a new appreciation for the heritage of the University.

Candice Brown, senior from Balsam Lake, Wisconsin, received some coaching from Jeff Jones and Roy Zeitlow. Jeff is president and Roy is vice president of the Student Foundation, a specially selected group of students who work with the admissions and advancement offices on special projects. Foundation members assumed responsibility for recruiting callers. Their commitment to the Phonathon was one of the major reasons for its success.

friends about things of interest to them. They also asked for prayers requests.

The response on both ends of the line was very gratifying. The students enjoyed the conversations. The emphasis on showing personal interest relieved the pressure so often associated with asking people for donations.

The people called also appreciated the personal attention they received from the students. The prayer request spanned the range of human experience; family problems, sickness, surgery, the death of a loved one, the loss of a job, unspoken requests, and many more. Asking for prayer requests was a very natural thing to do and people responded without hesitation.

Several students prayed with people over the phone about critical needs. Others shared words of understanding and encouragement. The prayer requests were collected throughout the evening and when the calling ended there was a time of prayer.

Lists of the prayer requests were given to members of the President's Cabinet and to Residence Hall Advisors to share with the everyone on campus. All who participated in the Phonathon expressed appreciation for the emphasis on personal relationships and prayer along with presenting the need for financial support. The Phonathon produced scholarships for students but it also showed a lot of people that LeTourneau students care about others. It was a worthwhile and enjoyable activity.
